A View of the Watergate Mess

There's a mighty high penalty on snooping—in Washington.

U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica assessed a fine of $40,000 and a sentence of up to 20 years in prison against one of the defendants in the Watergate "bugging" trial.

The defendant was G. Gordon Liddy, a former White House aide and former security chief for the Nixon re-election committee. He is also a former FBI agent who served on the White House Domestic Council in 1972.

Five other Watergate defendants have suffered fines up to $55,000 and prison sentences up to five years in prison. They entered a guilty plea to avoid testifying and were jailed.

The five are E. Howard Hunt, Jr., a former White House consultant, and Bernard L. Barker, Eugenio R. Martinez, Frank A. Sturgis and Virgilio R. Gonzales, all Cubans living in Miami.

Another defendant, James W. McCord, won a week's reprieve by promising to give hitherto unrevealed details this week about the Watergate caper.

McCord indicated there was perjury at the trial of other defendants. He said there was strong political pressure on the defendants to plead guilty and remain silent.

The seven had been named in a civil suit instituted by the Democratic National Committee after the DNC Headquarters had been broken into and bugged last June. The Democrats asked $6.4 million in damages. Charges against five of the seven were dismissed but the criminal charges stood.

What was this heinous crime that caused such strong reaction? Some investigative types of the Republican persuasion had broken into and bugged the Democratic headquarters in the Watergate hotel complex in Washington.

What did the Democrats have that the Republicans needed so desperately to know?

That hasn't been revealed yet but chances are that the information is comparatively worthless—but the act of snooping won't be quickly forgiven by the public. And besides, it's illegal.

Is it?

How about the collection of information a couple of years ago by the government on every important American. A public uproar caused a stop to that.

How about the collecting and dissemination to other branches of government of your personal income information by the Internal Revenue Service. That information is made available to other taxing authorities at state, county and city levels.

What about the information collected by the California Department of Vehicles when a driver's license is applied for? That information is made available to insurance firms all over the nation—with the public paying most of the cost. And if you think your medical record is confidential, forget it. Only this week did the legislature decide to consider putting a control of a sort on the distribution for profit of your records. A State Senator noted that "about the only person not able to see your medical records today is you."

And lastly, why does any court get so uptight over the antics of supernumeraries involved in political activities as compared with, say, a guy burglarizing a neighbor's house? Nobody accuses political figures of being honest but the court rated the Watergate culprits at five years and $40,000 on a criminality scale. A house-breaker, providing he does not burgle the home of a political functionary, would probably be fined $25 and put on probation for 90 days as a condition that he stay away from politicians during that period.

The investigation started at a pretty high level—in the White House. It fanned out to the FBI and gave a resounding smack to L. Patrick Gray III who was just about to make his bid for appointment to the deceased J. Edgar Hoover's post.

He put a host of agents on the case, investigating the "crime". But he blew it when he made his files available to members of the White House guard.

Another name that cropped up was that of former attorney general John Mitchell, and his wife, Martha.

Unquestionably, there'll be other important names that will make the news columns as the Watergate case develops. It may reach as high as Vice President Spiro Agnew's office. Maybe it has already. Washington Watchers say that Mr. Agnew's activities have been sharply curtailed from about the time the investigation picked up speed. Then there is Congressman Bob Wilson, long the ramrod of the Republican fund-raising projects. He's turning that post back to the Party. And Herb Klein, the President's communications chief who gave up his job as newspaper editor to serve Mr. Nixon. He has indicated that he will be out of the Washington scene before long.

There have been other separations, many of them unrelated to Watergate. But there are reasons to believe Watergate will cause a rather sizeable exodus from Washington by the time the case is closed.

The President has been mum on the matter except to say that "I have nothing to hide." Vice President Agnew has been in low profile this year—at a time when he should be asserting his presence as potentially the next president. But a cynic might see the situation as a sacrifice—that he may ultimately have to take the rap for the White House family and trail off into obscurity. Then the inquisitive mind might ask whether that would open the gate for a friend of the family—Mr. Nixon's great and good friend Gov. Ronald Reagan—to make the run for the roses?

If this happens the next question might be: How much of it was planned—and for that specific purpose?

After all, politics is a wacky business and sacrificing a few souls for political advantage is not unusual.

'Greek Drama' Talk Tonight

"Greek Drama" will be probed in depth by Grossmont College drama instructor, James Baker, during a program titled "The Golden Ages of Greece" at 7:30 p.m.

This evening in the college's Fine Arts Recital Hall. Presented by the college's Office of Community Services and coordinated by speech instructor, Jay Richen, the series of programs is an examination mission. In discussing "Greek Drama," Baker will relate the history of Greek drama and point out that contemporary playwrights and directors often rely on ancient Greek writers for their inspiration. There is no charge for admission.

Miss Debra Jean Holland Named Miss Spring Valley

New Queen To Vie For 'Fairest' Crown

Miss Debra Jean Holland, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Holland, 3951 Rogers rd., Spring Valley, is the newly-crowned Miss Spring Valley for 1973.

As winner of the local pageant, Miss Holland wins a swim suit and evening gown to wear in the Fairest of the Fair Pageant June 7, a Fairest of the Fair trophy, an engraved charm and charm bracelet, two season tickets to the 1973 Southern California Exposition, a ten-week modeling and charm course from John Robert Powers School, a PRX scholarship for $125.

Miss Saputo will assume the duties of Miss Spring Valley from Don Vine's Beauty Salon, as well as several prizes from local merchants. She will represent Spring Valley in the Fairest of the Fair pageant June 7, and if she is the winner of that contest, will reign over the 1973 Southern California Exposition at Del Mar. The winner of the Fairest of the Fair pageant will win $500 in cash, as well as prizes valued at over $2,500.

Miss Holland, a freshman at the University of San Diego, was crowned by 1972 Miss Spring Valley Francine Slagle in ceremonies following the Miss Spring Valley Pageant last Wednesday evening at Spring Valley Junior High School.

The contest, sponsored by the Spring Valley Rotary Club for the seventh year, included seven other candidates, including first runner up Rosalyn Saputo, 17-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sebastian Saputo, and second runner up Cathy Sparacino, 17-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vince Sparacino.

The new queen, who graduated from Monte Vista High School, stands 5-6 and weighs 120 pounds. She has brown hair and brown eyes and measures 36-24-35.

The local beauty, who is an animal lover, keeps two horses, a dog named Mitzie, and a Siamese cat named Ping. Bobby Sox Softball League Horses are her first love, as is the case with her 10-year old sister, Jodie.

She hopes to transfer to the University of California at Davis Veterinary School after four years at USD and would like to become a veterinarian.

Her activities in the past few years include being a volunteer candystriper at Grossmont Hospital, playing guitar, and modeling. She also enjoys hiking, riding motorbikes and riding dunebuggies in the desert.

Miss Holland has also held other beauty titles, including Mother Goose Princess, San Diego SLOBE (Stop Littering Our Bays and Beaches) Princess, and Miss Junior San Diego. She was runner up in the Miss Teen California Contest.

First runner up in the local pageant is Rosalyn Saputo, a senior at Mount Miguel High School who enjoys dancing, swimming, and singing. She stands 5-5, weighs 118 pounds, and has brown hair and eyes.

Second runner up is Cathy Sparacino, a Mt. Miguel junior who would like to become a primary school teacher. She is 5 feet tall, weighs 96 pounds, has brown hair and eyes, and is a varsity cheer leader, associated student body member, and student council member at her school.

Other participants in the contest include: Cindy D'Ambrosia, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel D'Ambrosia, of 2774 Helix st. A Mt. Miguel senior, she likes to cook and sew and would like to pursue a career in the clothing industry.

Penny Durgin, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Durgin, of 8864 Milburn st. A junior at Mt. Miguel, she likes to write poetry and decorate cakes and is a member of the hurdle crew at her school. She would like to be a nurse or cake decorator.

Rebecca Lord, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Lord, of 8878 Kelburn ave. She is a senior at Mt. Miguel High School and likes reading, sewing, cooking, swimming, tennis, and horseback riding.

Carol-Lynn Lynch, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Lynch, of 8913 Frederick st. A senior at Mt. Miguel, she is active in Job's Daughters and the Spring Valley Bobby Sox Softball League and would like to become a teacher of the mentally handicapped.

Linda Provost, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. of 3630 South Barcelona. She is a junior at Skyline High School, enjoys sports and travel, and would like to become a model.

Proceeds from the contest go to the Rotary Club's scholarship fund.

Planners Table Action On Sole Item of Note

The Lemon Grove Planning Association executive committee met last Thursday afternoon and tabled the only item of note on the agenda.

The association is in the process of formulating land use designations to be used when the group prepares a community plan. Thursday, the executive committee took up the matter of the last remaining designation to be approved, but the few members who attended decided to table the item until the next meeting.

Other discussion at the meeting included a question by a new resident of the town who recently moved to the area from Northern California. She asked if there was anything that could be done about the "clashing" colors of buildings in the town's business areas.

It was announced at the meeting that goals earlier formulated by the group had been approved by the planning commission and that they would be considered by the Board of Supervisors April 4.

The next meeting of the executive committee will be April 12 at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium at Golden Avenue School. The public is invited.

LG Man Held In Jamul Case

Lee E. Lett, 21, of 7311 Waite dr., Lemon Grove, was arrested last Wednesday on a burglary charge at his residence.

According to reports from the Sheriff's Department, the home of Dwight L. Moore on Lyons Valley rd. in Jamul was burglarized Wednesday morning, with nearly $3,000 in electronic and other valuables reported missing.

The victim told deputies that he had entertained a friend of his the night before the occurrence and that the friend had been in the company of two persons unknown to the victim.

The victim contacted the friend later and apprehended Lett, turning him over to deputies as a suspect in the case. Most of the equipment, which included television and stereo equipment, was recovered.

The second suspect was not apprehended.

Gripes To Be Aired At April 5 Meeting

The first meeting of the Lemon Grove Citizen's Advisory Committee will be April 5 at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium at Golden Avenue Elementary School.

The group, according to Fred Anderson, who has organized it, will be an action committee and will serve as a public forum, hopefully on a monthly basis.

At the April 5 meeting, Jerry Mann, a representative of Supervisor Dick Brown, will attend. He will try to inform those in attendance how county government operates and will listen to gripes and suggestions.

The purpose of the organization, Anderson said, is to enable local residents to relate their problems to government officials and receive suggestions on how to solve the problems.

MISS SPRING VALLEY — Miss Debra Holland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Holland, of 3951 Rogers rd., Spring Valley, is the 1973 Miss Spring Valley. Miss Holland, a freshman at the University of San Diego, was crowned after judging in the Spring

Rotary-sponsored Miss Spring Valley Pageant. The new queen succeeds Francine Slagle, 1972 queen, and will represent Spring Valley in the Fairest of the Fair Pageant in June.

Chamber Eyes Changes In LG Parking Situation

The Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce met last Thursday noon and discussed a variety of topics, ranging from Old Time Days to parking problems in the town.

Dell Lake presided over his first meeting, following his installation at the Chamber's annual dinner March 17.

Bob Guest, chairman of the dinner, reported that the chamber made a profit of $3.92 on the dinner, marking the first time that the group ever made money on an installation banquet.

Guest also noted that a bigger profit would have realized if several persons hadn't skipped the dinner after making reservations, leaving 25 diners uneaten.

It was also announced at the meeting that the County Board of Supervisors had agreed to re-name Costabella dr. to Lemon Grove ave. after there.

Candidates to Address LG CSEA Members

The Lemon Grove Chapter, No. 280, of the California State Employees Association, will meet April 2 at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium at Golden Avenue Elementary School, and will listen to candidates for the Lemon Grove School Board.

Entered in the race are Warren Buckner, Leonard Klee, Bill Talbot, Jerry Legerton, Walter Coles, John Linn, and Don McCray.

The new freeway exit is constructed late this year. The exit is expected to be the main entrance to the town.

The group also discussed changes in parking situations made recently by the county.

At the February meeting the chamber, members approved a suggestion to form no parking areas on the east side of Imperial ave. near Golden ave. and on the west side of Imperial near Golden, as well as several areas on the west side of School lane near Golden ave.

Under provisions of the parking bans, there is no parking on the west side of Imperial ave. on a 24-hour basis, and on the east side on Friday afternoons only, due to drive-up banking at that intersection. The 24-hour ban on the west side was to provide clear vision for a crosswalk there.

Chamber members agreed to the proposal, but have now changed their minds because the ban leaves no places for parking for several businesses in the area. Several members have suggested that the parking ban be effective only when students are let out of school in the afternoon and when they are going to school in the morning. Action is expected at the next meeting of the chamber.

A letter was read from the City of La Mesa regarding the Comprehensive Planning Organization, seeking support from the chamber in efforts to get the County of San Diego to join the body. The county has objected because of a weighted vote formula which gives the City of San Diego 40% of the vote.

The chamber members tabled the letter and asked that Supervisor Dick Brown, who represents Lemon Grove and the surrounding area, be invited to the next meeting to discuss CPO.

In other action, Gary Sweet and Jim Dorman reported on the Old Time Days Carnival which will be sponsored by the chamber the week before Old Time Days in May.

Dorman indicated that advance ticket sales for rides at the carnival are now on sale at a savings. Books of five tickets are sold for $1 and are good for rides which cost 35 and 40 cents at the carnival.

Season Rain Total Almost 16 Inches

More rainy weather this week brought minor flooding to areas of Lemon Grove and Spring Valley.

Heavy rains at times Monday brought .34 of an inch, with an additional .15 of an inch Tuesday, which, when combined with precipitation that came the latter portion of last week, brought the season total to 15.96 inches.

Showers Tuesday marked the 12th straight Tuesday that rain fell in this area.

Mail Bag

Dear Editor,

It has come to our attention that some of our children have been exposed to possible danger on their way to and from school. We not only have had the expected problems of older boys, skinned knees, and "friendly" fights, but we have also been faced with indecent exposure and by a man trying to lure children to his car.

The Kempton Street School PTA is attempting to set up a "block parent program" to give the children a place to go for safety when needed. We need help in this matter as this is a serious problem concerning all of us in the area.

Readers who are able to take part in the program or help in any way should contact Dorothy Harless, PTA president.

Jerolene Wolburg
Kempton PTA

Dear Editor,

As a voter and concerned citizen in the Lemon Grove school district, I feel it is my duty to voice my opinion about a situation which has arisen in the up-coming school election. Since a majority of all teachers in this area are not truly residents of the Lemon Grove area, I do not believe that an action committee from this group should be endorsing any candidates in the coming election.

Furthermore, since the offices of the Board of Trustees are non-partisan positions, the candidates should not be endorsed by a political personality or any group.

It is obvious, that all any teacher group could hope to derive from such action is to make sure that new board members elected would support their special interests.

It is my opinion that we as parents elect members who will strive for improvement of the educational system and be aware of the need for a fresh approach and new ideas. I believe each candidate should have an equal opportunity to be seen and heard without pressure from any person or group.

Sincerely,
E. L. Johnson

SV Historical Society Plans April 3 Meeting

The regular meeting of the Spring Valley Historical Society will be April 3 at 7:30 p.m., in the caretaker's home on Memory lane, just off Bancroft dr.

The public is invited, said Mrs. Charlotte Phillips, vice president. Besides the regular business there will be the signing of a contract with the caretaker, for three years.

Life expectancy for women in Great Britain is a little over 75 years.

Learn Spanish The Easy Way Hardison's Telespanish

"Agradece" is the way to say "to appreciate" in Spanish. It can also mean "to thank" in the sense of being appreciative. An important variation of this word is "agradezco" (I thank). Phonetically it is pronounced "ah-grah-DEHS-koh." It may appear in simple expressions of gratitude like "Lo agradezco" (I appreciate it.) or "I thank you for it." and "Agradezco sus buenos deseos." (I appreciate your good wishes.) or "I thank you for your good wishes."

"Agradece" is another variation of "agradezco." It is used in the expression "El le agradece para la buena comida." (He thanks you for the good food.) and "Ella le agradece a usted para la casa limpia." (She thanks you for the clean house.)

We may also use "usted" (you) in phrases with "agradece" as seen in "Usted agradece tener buenos amigos." (You are thankful to have good friends.) and "Usted agradece cada oportunidad." (You are grateful for each opportunity.)

Mrs. Whitney Due At LM Methodist Church

Mrs. Eleanor Searle Whitney, associated with "Key 73," will appear at the First United Methodist Church of La Mesa 7:30 p.m. April 5, under the sponsorship of Church Women United, Heartland Council.

Mrs. Whitney, in demand as a speaker, is author of the book "Invitation to Joy."

She will have two autograph parties for her book on April 5, one at the Foothill's Bible Book Store from noon to 2 p.m. and one from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. at the First United Methodist Church before she speaks.

A reception will be held for Mrs. Whitney in the Social Hall of the church following her message. The public is invited to attend.

Glenn Lauby to Preach At Skyline Church

Assistant Pastor Chaplain Glenn Lauby will provide three morning services Sunday at the Skyline Wesleyan Church, 1345 Skyline dr., Lemon Grove.

Services will be 8:30, 10 and 11:30. Communion will also be observed at the services.

Collegian Pastor Jimmy Johnson will preach in the evening at 5:30 and 7:30. The Kids Korral will supply special music.

A report will be given by Gordon and Alice Taylor who are missionaries to the Canadian Indians.

The Rev. Orval Butcher, a well pastor of the Skyline Church, known violinist of the First Baptist Church of San Diego, for a three week Saturation Evangelism teaching program. He will be speaking daily in family camps.

"Agradece" is a dependent form which means "grateful." It is frequently used with "es" (I am) or "es" (is) to present a complete thought. This occurs in "Estoy muy agradecido." (I am very grateful.) and "Ella no es agradecida." (She is not grateful.)

"Agradecemos" is the plural form. The suffix "mos" tells us that the subject in English is "we." This conveys the idea of "We are thankful." Complete expressions with "agradecemos" are seen in "Agradecemos sus atenciones." (We appreciate (are thankful for) your attention.) and "No lo agradecemos mucho." (We are not too thankful for it.)

Practice phrases listed below are presented for your continued learning pleasure. The phonetic guide may be helpful or try the telephone (276-2762).

IMPORTANT PHRASES:

Say "Yo lo agradezco." (yoh loh ah-grah-DEHS-koh) for "I thank you for it."

Say "Ella agradece todo." (EH-yah ah-grah-DEHS-toh) for "She is thankful for everything."

Say "Agradecemos su ayuda." (ah-grah-deh-SEH-mohs soo ah-YOO-dah) for "We are thankful for your help."

Say "Estoy agradecido ahora." (eh-STOH-ee ah-grah-deh-SEE-toh ah-OH-rah) for "I am thankful now."

Say "agradece es importante." (ah-grah-deh-SEHR ehs eem-pohr-TAHN-teh) for "To be thankful is important."

Say "Ellos lo agradecen." (EH-yohs loh ah-grah-DEH-sehn) for "They give thanks for it."

La Jolla Home Tour Planned

Three beautiful La Jolla homes and The Bishop's Schools in La Jolla have been chosen for the 37th annual Home and Garden Tour sponsored by the Women of St. James Episcopal Church.

The tour will be from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, April 28. The $3.50 ticket donation includes bus transportation and a formal tea after the tour.

Buses will leave St. James Church, 743 Prospect st., every 15 minutes from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m., allowing ample time to tour each home and garden. The tea will be held from 1 to 4:30 p.m. at the La Jolla Beach and Tennis Club.

Mrs. Eugene Cook, chairman of the tour committee, said that the homes would specialize in the Murrills area of La Jolla this year.

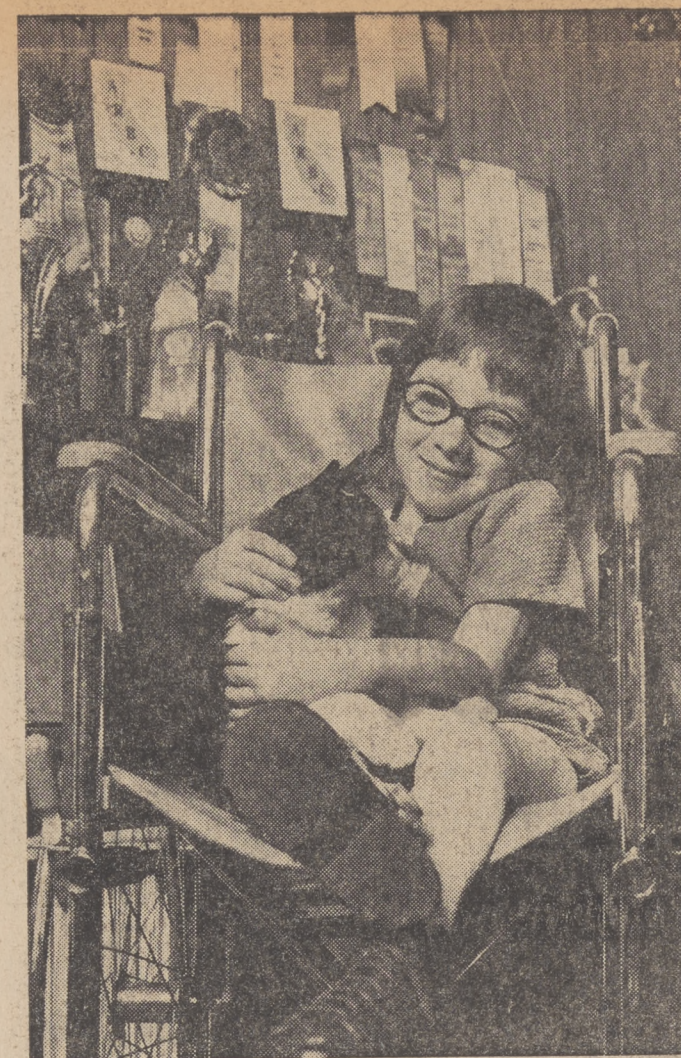

The homes are those of Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Chapman, 6015 La Jolla Scenic dr.; Mr. and Mrs. David S. Casey, 1550 El Paseo Real; Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Manchester, 1870 La Jolla Rancho rd.; and The Bishop's Schools at 7607 La Jolla Blvd.

Erickson New District Deputy

At the regular meeting of Scandinavian Lodge No. 667, held in La Mesa last week, District Master Ellen Bergstrom installed Helge Erickson as District Deputy for 1973.

On hand to witness the ceremony were Grand Lodge Deputy Ernie Soderberg, Junior Past District Master Willard Spruner, District Chaplain Don Barriek, District Membership Chairman Oscar Oderman of Pacific Southwest District No. 15, District Master Gordon Swanson from Pacific Northwest District No. 13 and local lodge members.

The office of District Deputy is an important one as the deputy is the liaison officer between the District Master and the local lodge.

EASTER SEAL CHILD — Cricket Lynch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Lynch, of Jamul, has been selected 1973 Easter Seal Child for San Diego County. The local youngster, a victim of "Brittle Bone" disease, wears leg braces, corrective shoes, and walks with the aid of crutches. She has suffered 75 fractures in her nine years and has undergone seven operations. She was selected as Easter Seal Child because of her courage and determination.

Jamul Girl Named Easter Seal Child

Although playing like other children can mean another congenital imperfection of broken bone, little Cricket Lynch does very well mildly rough-housing with her many pets at home in Jamul.

Cricket, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Lynch, has been chosen as the 1973 Easter Seal child for San Diego County.

"Did you ever want something so bad it hurt?" is the theme of this year's campaign, which is sponsored by the Easter Seals Society for Crippled Children and Adults of San Diego County, a division of Children's Health Center, 8001 Frost st., San Diego.

A victim of Osteogenesis Imperfecta, more commonly known as "Brittle Bone" disease, Cricket wears leg braces, corrective shoes and uses crutches. Cricket, who has suffered almost 75 fractures, has undergone seven surgeries at which time telescopic rods were introduced or replaced in all her extremities.

United Way Name For UCS, United Crusade

Now it's the United Way of San Diego County.

In place of two names — the "United Crusade" for the annual fund campaign, and "United Community Services" for the administrative, planning and budgeting organization, the single, all-encompassing name, "United Way of San Diego County", will be used.

The new designation has been in use since its adoption at the recent annual meeting of the community's largest philanthropic body. The change was made following a recommendation of the group's Public Relations Advisory Committee which had been studying the question for the past year.

Clayton H. Brace, vice president-general manager of McGraw Hill Broadcasting Co., Inc., and Robert F. Smith, board chairman of Phillips Ramsey, Inc. are chairman and co-chairman of the committee respectively.

The advisory committee found that considerable confusion existed throughout the county not only regarding the two names currently in use, but also because of the previous changes in the organization's name.

Apartment Owners Get Tax Relief

"For the first time," according to County Assessor E. C. Williams, "the Homeowners' Property Tax Exemption can be applied to an owner-occupied dwelling unit in a multiple-family dwelling." Williams further explained that "multiple family dwellings include triplexes, four-unit flats, apartment houses containing three or more units, or a motel with housekeeping facilities in the unit occupied by the owner."

As in the case of all applicants for the Homeowners' Exemption, the unit occupied by the owner in a multiple-family dwelling must constitute the claimant's principal place of residence on March 1 of the year the exemption is claimed. As in previous years, a separate dwelling unit in a duplex occupied by the owner continues to qualify for this exemption.

"We want to be sure that all newly qualified property owners are aware of the change in the law and, if they have not received a Homeowners' Exemption application form from our office by this time, that they call the Assessor's office immediately so that we can mail a claim form to them," Williams concluded by saying that; "This year the amount of the Homeowners' Exemption has been increased from $750 assessed value to $1,750 assessed value and could save the individual property owner, depending on the tax rate in which he lives, $125 to $250 on next year's taxes."

Band Review To Draw 46 Band Units

Forty-six competing bands have been accepted to participate in National City's 26th Annual Maytime Band Review May 5, according to Bob Knight, chairman.

Coming back to defend its title to the Sweepstakes Trophy will be the 112 piece band from Anaheim High School. Setting the pace for the competing units will be the Marine Corps Recruit Depot Band from San Diego.

Over 6,000 individual participants will be marching the Review, which will begin at 1:30 a.m. at 8th and J in National City, proceed west on 8th to National ave., south on National to 12th st., where it will disband. Following the parade, participants will gather in Kimball Park Bowl for a colorful awards ceremony.

A Miss Maytime Majorette Contest will be held April 14, at Sweetwater High School to select a Miss Maytime Majorette and Majorette Princess to lead the Review. Majorettes from throughout Southern California are expected to compete in the contest, which is being held by the San Diego County Baton Boosters Association, in conjunction with the Maytime Band Review Committee.

The Maytime Band Review is produced annually for the City of National City by the National City Chamber of Commerce.

'Gypsy Rose Lee' Reopens Off Broadway

Gypsy Rose Lee, the legendary lady-like stripper of the 1930's, is portrayed by Linda Kaye Henning in Wortman-Hartzog's first Off Broadway production, "Gypsy", which opened last night with Kay Ballard starring in the role of her famous stage mother.

Miss Henning, who starred in television's "Petticoat Junction" series for seven years, considers her current role the most exciting she's had in the theatre during her long and active career.

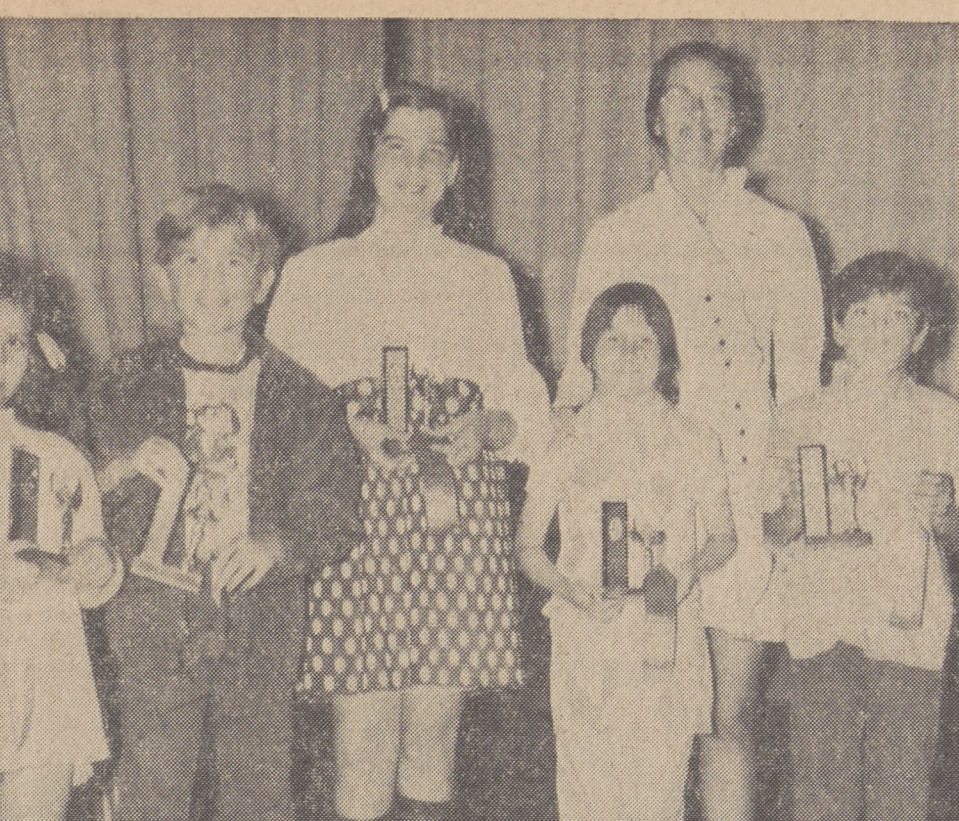

A frequent guest on many television game shows as Password and Hollywood Squares, Linda Kaye just completed a Movie of the Week entitled "The Gift of Terror" which will air on April 5 with Michael Callan and Edd Byrnes co-starring. Film credits include "Bye, Bye Birdie" and stage appearances include such hits as "Fiddler on the Roof", and "Play It Again, Sam."

"Gypsy", derived from Miss Lee's best-selling memoirs, tells the colorful song and dance odyssey of a girl who goes from tank-town vaudeville to the tinsel gaudiness of Minsky burlesque to being an international celebrity. The driving force was her scheming, dominating stage mother, Rose, played by Miss Ballard.

Co-starring in the hit musical comedy is Gavin MacLeod of the Mary Tyler Moore TV series, and Dee Ann Johnston who portrays "Dainty June", Gypsies sister Jane Havoc.

Off Broadway's performances are scheduled at 8:30 p.m. Tuesdays through Saturdays and at 7:30 p.m. on Sundays. Matinees are 2 p.m. on Saturdays and Sundays.

Men and women, any age, may qualify. Should you sincerely desire for unlimited earnings, recognition and a glamorous career, simply phone this number for more interesting details.

SCIENCE FAIR — Winners in the Avondale School Science Fair, sponsored by the school PTA recently, are Andrea Cuniff, left, Joe Appell, Debbie MacLeod, Ann Hewitt, fair coordinator Frances Morris, and Allen Cuniff. Miss Cuniff and Miss Hewitt combined to win the first and second grade top prize, Joe Appell and Allen Cuniff combined their project to win the third and fourth grade division, and Miss MacLeod won the fifth and sixth grade competition.

Olma Winner In Bank Of America Competition

John A. Olmo, of 1559 San Altos pl., Lemon Grove, was among 36 students from nine Area IV community colleges who were named first round winners in Bank of America's annual $85,800 California Community College Awards Program.

Olmo attends Grossmont College.

The first round winners, all college sophomores, will receive at least $150 in the unique competition, now in its third year.

It is patterned after the statewide bank's former Business Awards and Man and Woman of the Year programs which financially benefited more than 2,800 college students in 18 years.

The 45 participating Southern California community colleges each have selected four students, one each in the fields of business, technical, vocational, social science-humanities and science and engineering.

The students now advance to one of five semi-final area competitions in Southern California March 28. At the area events, two students from each of the four fields will be selected for the finals. Those advancing are assured of at least $250, with all others at the area competitions receiving $150.

The Area IV event will be held at the Mission Valley Inn's Executive Room, 875 Hotel Circle South.

At the area events, the students will discuss an unannounced subject related to their field of study before a panel of business and civic leaders presided over by a prominent educator. The student's scholastic record, citizenship, leadership and service also will be considered in the judging.

vice also will be considered in the judging.

Semi-final winners will advance to the Southern California finals May 2 at the Los Angeles Hilton Hotel. Selection process will be the same as the area events, with judging in each field being held separately.

All finalists receive at least $250 and have an opportunity to win $2,000 first place awards. Second place awards are $1,000, with $500 for third place winners.

Pre-Fight Banquet Changed to Friday

The Sickle Cell Benefit "Pre-Fight" Dinner has been rescheduled for Friday at 7 p.m. due to a scheduling conflict with tonight's Baseball Writer's Association Dinner, according to a joint announcement made by LeBaron, Sickle Cell and Sports Promotion officials.

The Pre-Fight Dinner was originally scheduled for Thursday, March 29. The location will remain at LeBaron Hotel's Regency Room.

San Diego's chapter of the Sickle Cell Anemia Foundation will benefit from the dinner, which will be attended by such personalities as Ryan O'Neal, Lou Rawls, George Peppard, Don Newcomb, Archie Moore, Richard Montalban, and the fight contenders — Muhammad Ali and Ken Norton.

Tickets for the dinner are $25 and may be purchased at the door.

Woolen flannel cloth is made by using slightly twisted thread and open weaving.

AREA OBITUARIES

Funeral Services Held For Ida B. Folk, 90

Funeral services were held Wednesday morning in the Conrad Lemon Grove Mortuary Chapel for Ida B. Folk, 90, of 1606 Bakersfield st., Lemon Grove, who died March 26 at El Cajon Valley Sanitarium.

A native of Missouri, Mrs. Folk lived in this area for 30 years. Interment will be in Wellborn Cemetery in Moundville, Missouri.

Surviving are three sons, James, of Lemon Grove, Herbert, of Gardena, California, and Hugh, of Missouri; two daughters, Ruby Jones and Helen Thomas, both of Missouri, 12 grandchildren, and 13 great-grandchildren.

J. Mackiewicz

Recitation of the Rosary was last Friday evening in Goodbody's Ivy Chapel for Joseph Anthony Mackiewicz, 65, of 8624 Tyler st., Spring Valley, who died March 21 at U. S. Naval Hospital.

Requiem Mass was celebrated Friday morning at Saint John of the Cross Roman Catholic Church in Lemon Grove, with entombment in Holy Cross Mausoleum.

Mackiewicz, a native of Massachusetts, lived in this area for 39 years and was retired from the United States Navy as a chief warrant officer after 26 years of service. He was a veteran of World War Two and the Korean conflict.

Survivors include two daughters, Theresa Mackiewicz, of San Diego, and Josephine Canaris, also of San Diego.

Violinist Masuko Ushioda Concert Planned April 4

Grossmont College's Office of Community Services will present violinist Masuko Ushioda in concert at 8 p.m., April 4 in the Fine Arts Recital Hall.

An award winner in both the Tchaikovsky International Competition and the Queen Elizabeth International Competition, Miss Ushioda has performed as a soloist with the Philadelphia Orchestra, the Chicago and Boston Symphonies, the Los Angeles Philharmonic, the London Symphony, Concertgebouw, London Philharmonic and the New York Philharmonic.

Miss Ushioda was born in Manchuria to a family of distinguished artists. Her father is an architect and her mother a dancer of Japanese classical dance. She also studied dance and took violin lessons from Mme Anna Oono who had been a pupil of Leopold Auer at the Petrograd Conservatory.

After deciding on a career as a violinist, she enrolled at the Toho Gakuen Academy of Music in Tokyo. At the age of 14, she won the top award in Japan's foremost music competition, the Mainichi Music Contest.

The public is invited and there is no charge for admission.

Plans Set For Annual Study Trip

Plans have been completed for Grossmont College's fifth annual European study tour scheduled from June 26 to August 2. Tour members will have a rare opportunity to see the "real" Europe as they wander through the Alps, Brussels, Vienna, Venice, Florence, Paris and Yugoslavia.

The tour is designed especially for Grossmont College and in addition to visiting Europe's fascinating capitals, tour members are scheduled to visit the magnificent Zermatt at the base of the Matterhorn, charming Lichenstein, King Ludwig's incredible castle at Fussen, Germany, the fabulous medieval Dubrovnik on Yugoslavia's coast and Avignon, France's pride of centuries past.

With Grossmont College business instructor Robert Peck serving as tour guide, participants in the tour will have the opportunity to earn six units of college credit while traveling with a small, congenial group of students through middle Europe. Price of the all-inclusive tour is $995, including transportation from Los Angeles to Brussels and Paris to Los Angeles.

Peck joined the U. S. Foreign Service in 1949 serving in the Dominican Republic and Mexico City. He has traveled extensively in Europe. A resident of Mexico for almost 2 years while he was engaged in a private business, Peck, who travels for a hobby, spends much of his free time camping in secluded areas of Baja California.

Additional information concerning the tour may be obtained by contacting John Feare, 465-1700, ext. 277 or Robert Peck, ext. 205.

Funeral services were held last Thursday morning at Featheringill Mortuary for Valerie M. Reed, 49, of 1458 La Corta cir., Lemon Grove, who died Monday, a suicide victim, at her home.

Mrs. Reed, a native of San Diego, lived in this area all her life. She was a member of the Brooklyn Heights Presbyterian Church. Interment was in Mt. Hope Cemetery.

Survivors include her husband, Edward Reed; a daughter, Anita Ashley, of Santee; her mother, Anna Jolis, of San Diego; two brothers, Ernest and Robert Dykstra, both of San Diego; a sister, Lorraine Dykstra, of San Diego, and one grandson.

Class of '63 Reunion
On Tap Saturday Night

Members of the class of 1963 at Monte Vista High School will get together in their tenth-year reunion Saturday night at the El Cajon Elks Club.

Most of the 155 members of the class have been contacted and have agreed to attend the reunion, according to Dena Gillespie, reunion chairman.

Included in the affair will be dancing to the music of the local musical group, Greenfield. Speakers will include high school and district officials, as well as members of the class.

PRINTOUT — Vicki Shelton, sitting, checks the results of her program while classmate Vicki Groetzing looks on. The girls are members of Joan Wittrock's class at Vista La Mesa School which is taking part in an experimental computerized math program. Under the program, Miss Shelton would punch out her name and a number which is assigned to her. The computer then prints out the time and "Hello Vicki" before giving her a problem. After the student answers, the computer either indicates that the answer was correct and gives another problem or indicates that the student should try again. The purpose of the program is to allow the student to get an individualized program while progressing as rapidly as the student is able. At the same time it frees the classroom teacher from rote exercises. The concept is a popular one with the students, said Miss Wittrock, who added that some youngsters even work on their programs during recess periods and after school.

Cues Reach ABA Playoffs

When the Denver Rockets beat the Dallas Chaparrals Sunday afternoon, it cinched fourth place for the San Diego Conquistadors. Mathematically, Dallas couldn't leave the Western division cellar if the Cues lost all games and the Chaps won.

As a fourth place team the Cues win a playoff berth.

Whatever effect the playoff schedule produced, the Cue proceeded to take a 124-113 drubbing from the Carolina Cougars Sunday night before an announced turnout of 3,989 fans in Peterson Gym.

During the game Coach K. C. Jones was banished for unkindly remarks to a referee.

The Cues will open the playoffs at Utah in Salt Lake on April 2. After two games they will play games at Peterson on April 7 and 8. If more games are required, they go back to Salt Lake for one then return to San Diego for one. Tickets go on sale in San Diego Monday.

GasCo Earnings Up

San Diego Gas & Electric Company has mailed its 1972 annual report to 35,000 shareholders, more than one-third of them residents of the company's service territory.

Walter A. Zitlau, president, reported earnings of $1.90 per share on revenues totaling $197,069,000 compared to $1.89 per share on revenues of $175,175,000 in 1971.

Zitlau said in his letter to shareholders that with the considerable increase in revenues during 1972, the earnings level was a disappointment.

La Mesa Track Meet Entry Deadline Nears

Deadline is today for entries in the La Mesa Recreation Department 1973 track and field meet which will be held Saturday at Helix High School.

Entries are accepted in 14 divisions for boys and girls up to 15 years old, with three track, three field, and one relay event in each division. Each entrant may compete in one track, one field, and a relay event. Ribbons will be awarded for the top three places in each event and the winners will compete in a county meet April 7.

Events in the nine-year-old-and-under class for boys will include the 50-yard dash, the 100-yard dash, the 440, the long and high jumps, the soft ball throw, and the 440-yard relay. Events in the ten-year-old class are the same.

Those in the 11-year-old class may select from the 50-yard dash, the 100-yard dash, the 660, the long and high jumps, the six-pound shot put, and the 440 relay. 12-year-olds will have the same events.

The 13-year-old division includes the 100 and 180 dashes, the 880-yard run, the long and high jumps, an eight-pound shot put, and the 440 relay. The only change for 14-year-olds is a 1320-yard run in place of the 880. The 15-year-old division will feature a mile run instead of the 1320.

The girls' nine-year-old-and-under division will include the 50 and 100 yard dashes, the 440 relay, the high and long jumps, and the baseball throw. Shuttle relays for girls, which have been run in the past, make way for standard relays this year.

Girls in the 10, 11 and 12-year-old divisions will have the same events as the nine-and-under category.

In the 13-year division, the dashes have been lengthened to 100 and 180 yards, and a 440-yard run has been added. The baseball throw is changed to a six-pound shot put for the 14-year class and the 15-year division.

Entries should be submitted to the La Mesa Recreation Center, 8440 University ave., La Mesa, near the La Mesa Pool, by 9 p.m. this evening. Applications must be signed by entrants' parent or guardian.

The meet begins at 1 a.m. Spikes no longer than 1/4-inch may be worn.

NOT QUITE — Monte Vista pole vaulter Greg Wilcox is nearly over the bar at 12 feet 6 inches but he came down a little early and missed his chance. Wilcox settled for 12 feet even — good enough for first place in last Friday's meet with Santana, which Monte Vista won, 91-44. The victory put Monte Vista in third place with a 2-1 mark on the season.

Padres Ready For Gala Opening Apr. 6 for further ticket information call 283-4494.

Monarch Pitching Shines In Two League Victories

Pitching was the name of the game for Monte Vista High School last week, as the local baseballers picked up a pair of 3-2 victories.

On Wednesday, the Monarchs hosted the Santana Sultans in a game which was originally scheduled for Tuesday but was delayed because of rain.

Rick Baker took the mound for the Monarchy and was tagged for an unearned run in the first inning as two Monte Vista errors and a hit-and-run single brought in Tom Saska with the first score of the game.

Monte Vista got back in the game in the bottom of the second frame when a Santana miscue led to a pair of semi-earned runs. Ken Margulis tagged a double to lead off the frame, and Ken Randel walked after two outs to put runners on first and second base.

Gil Ninness then blooped a routine fly ball to left field, but the Santana outfielder lost the flight of the ball and it fell in for a double, scoring Margulis and Randel.

Baker worked well with his fastball until the fourth frame, when he made the single mistake of sending a waist-high fastball over the center of the plate to Tom Saska, who jumped on it for a game-tying home run.

Baker blanked the Sults for the next three innings, and it looked as though the game might have gone into extra innings until Baker approached the plate in the bottom of the seventh and rode the second pitch from reliever George Cartwright 400 feet to left center field for the game winning homer.

On Friday, Dave Munoz handled the mound chores for the Monarchy in a game against Granite Hills.

Munoz opened the contest by setting the first nine men in the Eagle lineup down in order. In the fourth frame, however, a walk and a single turned into a pair of runs on two errors.

In that melee, Mike Ortega walked, Brian Davis singled, and right fielder Ken Randel let the ball get by him, allowing Ortega to score and Davis to get to third. A wild pitch by Munoz scored Ortega.

Munoz settled down after that, allowing only one more hit the rest of the way.

Monarchs Whip Sultans; Miguel Edged By Braves

Monte Vista managed to win only half of the field stay in the prep track race by bombing Santana, 91-44 last Friday, but Mt. Miguel slipped into a tie for fifth place by losing to El Cajon, 74-62.

Monte Vista upped its record to 2-1, a game behind co-leaders El Capitan and Helix, while Mt. Miguel slipped to 1-2, tied with El Cajon for fifth place.

Both Spring Valley schools are track-rich and field-lean, and it was evidenced in different ways Friday.

Monte Vista won every track event, except for the mile relay, but managed to win only half of the field events enroute to the easy victory over Santana.

Monte Vista swept two events — the mile and two-mile — while Santana swept the long jump.

Mount Miguel won six of eight track events, El Cajon took five of six field events, and the relays were split, Mt. Miguel winning the mile relay and El Cajon taking the 440.

First places were even, and third places were even, with each team claiming seven in each category. The difference in the meet was that Mt. Miguel could come through for only five second places while El Cajon won the meet with nine seconds.

El Cajon swept the shot put and discus events to add 18 points to its score. Mt. Miguel failed to sweep an event.

Speedway Racers Ready Track for April 'Open House'

300 super stock car drivers and pitmen returned Cajon Speedway to a first class racing plant last week-end. The maintenance will continue for the Open House event planned for April 15 from 2 to 5 p.m.

The latest thing in super stock cars will appear for time trials to tryout the hi-banked, 3/8 mile racing oval. The new look for '73 will feature a shorter wheel base of 107" to 112" for hardtops and over 112" for convertibles and all will be of 1961 vintage or later.

The big super engines will be allowed for each 5 lbs. of body weight 1 cubic inch displacement in the engines. Most cars will be running 350 Chevy's or 351 to 427 Fords.

The cars must run all new tires with tread, slicks are out.

The County of San Diego has been sent verification for the 1972 super stock car championship race that was run at Cajon Speedway, September 29, 1972. The race was captured by John Borneman of El Cajon who was crowned 1972 Speedway champion.

An estimated 1,228,081 have seen racing events at Cajon since 1961 including pits and passes.

Income Tax Refunds are ready-made savings.

Your income tax refund is ready-made savings—ready to be tucked away as a nice lump-sum payment on tomorrow.

It's probably what you've had in mind all along, isn't it? Getting this far without missing the money, and then making sort of a giant step toward whatever it is you're saving for.

One of the easiest ways to make sure you really do it, of course, is to take your refund check and turn it into a Series E Savings Bond. (Or maybe several Savings Bonds!) Series E Bonds earn 5½% interest, compounded semiannually, when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year). Your money is guaranteed safe—Bonds are replaced free if lost, destroyed or stolen. And, speaking of income tax, you may defer the payment of Federal tax on your E Bond interest until you cash your Bonds or they finally mature. (And the interest is exempt from state and local income taxes!) So don't miss such an ideal opportunity to add to your savings. Turn your tax refund check into growing Savings Bonds dollars today. You'll be doing something nice for your future.

Muhammad Ali Favorite Over Norton In 'The Fight' Saturday At SD Sports Arena

By Max Goodwin

By sundown Saturday "The Fight" will be history.

Muhammad Ali, nee Cassius Clay, his mouth and retinue will be enroute to Cherry Hill, New Jersey leaving a vacuum in the sports fraternity of San Diego.

Ken Norton, San Diego's spiffy heavyweight, win or lose, will have added to his stature simply by getting into the ring with Ali. Depending on how he deports himself will be the difference between an average income scrapper and a millionaire.

His name will become known all over the world by satellite teevee, radio and by the printed press. San Diego, like Norton, will suddenly become the focal point of world-wide interest.

As for Norton, a 5-1 underdog, the situation is not impossible. Many contestants have faced greater odds. And he doesn't have to win to gather in the good things of world recognition. A split decision would assure him another chance.

If the former heavyweight champion Ali loses, he will have lost the opportunity to amass a huge fortune with his fists — a fortune he wants for a splendiferous retirement "in three or four years."

The fight will be exciting. That's what the public expects for the $200,000-$300,00 they will pay to see Norton and Ali mix it Saturday at 1:30 p.m. in the 14,000-seat San Diego Sports Arena.

Well Financed

It is no Mickey Mouse promotion. It is a well-financed production by C. E. "Lee" Fruin, a 37-year old San Diego investor, who is promoting his first fight. By the time the contracts were signed between Ali and Norton, Fruin was on the hook for about a quarter of a million dollars.

But never before has a local fight been so tactfully presented. As a matter of fact never has there been a fight of this magnitude presented locally — but more about Fruin later.

There are more people in the picture than Fruin, Ali and Norton. There are trainers, matchmakers, sparring partners, public relations men, lawyers, coordinators, overseers, investors and managers. In each of the categories someone provides a vital function. These people are important. Without them the whole bag would collapse.

Following is a vignette of those holding key roles which will give an idea of what goes on behind the scenes.

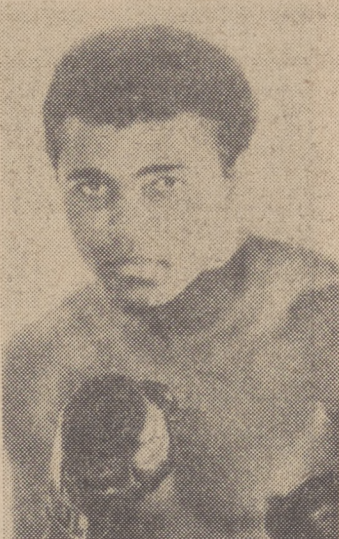

Dave McIntyre Heads TFN Management Co.

Thomas-Fletcher-Nicol Management Co. is the new organization for the property management activities of the Thomas-Fletcher-Nicol real estate firm, president Kip Nicol announced last week.

The new company was formed utilizing the present management of T-F-N to provide a separate and distinct operation devoted solely to our growing involvement in the property management field, Nicol said. The management company, which formerly functioned as a division of T-F-N, remains under the supervision of Dave S. McIntyre who joined the firm in November 1972 after having served in executive property management positions with other local companies.

Thomas-Fletcher-Nicol Management Co. is under contract with the Financial Square Company for the management of the $24 million San Diego Federal building in downtown San Diego. Muhammad Ali

The main attraction is Muhammad Ali, the former heavyweight titleholder. He has won 41 fights with only one loss — that to Joe Frazier in March 1971. He has had 12 fights since he left the inactive ranks in 1968-69. 12 fights in 24 months means he is in pretty good shape. Frazier has since lost the title.

Ali is fast of mind, muscle and mouth. Away from the crowd he could easily win the title of "most likeable". Much of his "bad mouth" is put on. His "people" expect it. He provides them with the kind of leadership they love. Additionally, he is a superb fighter. Most experts say he is the most knowledgeable fighter in the ring today. At 31 he is a mite slower than he was before his 1968-69 hiatus. His trainer is the cagey, crafty Angelo Dundee.

Ken Norton

Ken Norton, a 29-year old ex-Marine is superbly trained and faces the opportunity of a lifetime. He has had 31 fights and lost only 1. He was All-Marine Champion in 1965-66-67. He lacks the knockout record boasted by his opponent, but Norton is a steady though slightly awkward fighter. A stalker. If he can fend Ali off for five rounds, he can beat him. He lives in San Diego and is well-known and well-liked by sports fans and the press. He lacks the personality of Ali — but doesn't just about everybody. He is trained by a quiet, demanding man — Eddie Futch.

Futch has taught him to keep his hands higher and to jab. Under Futch he has made more progress so far this year than he did in the couple of years just past. He is presently ranked 7th in the nation.

Lee Fruin

It took a lot of courage — and a lot of money — to mount Saturday's battle. C. E. Fruin, a handsome man with straw-yellow hair, had the daring, the know-how and the business sense to put the Ali-Norton fight together with aplomb seldom seen in fistiana. His promotion is noteworthy because there were no false statements issued to separate fans from their money as it is, with many other fights. This made him a favorite with most of the members of the press. Possessed of a varied business background he presently heads his own organization, a mini conglomerate, dealing with tax planning and investments. Fruin has a lot going for him — not the least of which is a likeable personality. He is a former Marine.

The group promoting "The Fight" operates as Sports Promotions, Inc.

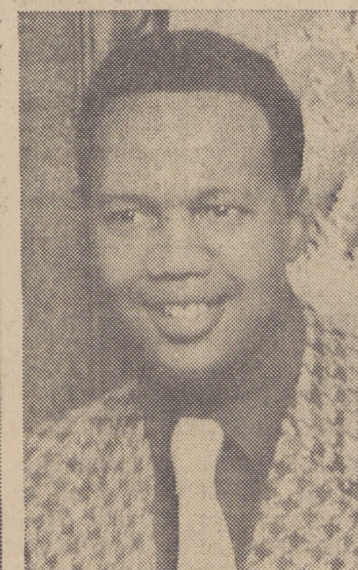

John Greensmith

Administrative assistant to Lee Fruin is Johnny Greensmith who has served as a publicist for every San Diego promoter who has ever tried his hand at making a buck out of the often wacky world of boxing. He has also served as a news photographer locally for the past 13 years. He contributes regularly to Ring and Boxing Illustrated magazine. He was formerly ring announcer for wrestling programs at the old Coliseum.

Greensmith, basically a news writer, is formerly news director of a Bakersfield radio-teevee station. He is in charge of the press material for the fight. Thanks to him, this fight had none of the frenetic mistruths usually attendant such a fray.

Much of his time was spent arranging interviews and handling all the information emanating from Sports Promotions. One of his recent duties was giving Ali a sightseeing tour of California's most unconventional city in a big Cadillac with the former world's champ sitting in the back seat. That was a blast, he said.

An important part of Greensmith's job is handling sports reporters. They're a bitchy bunch. That job appears to be as thankless as they come — until he picks up the paper and sees a spread on "The Fight".

Low Lake

Low Lake is really the "father" of "The Fight". He is Fruin's fight coordinator and a former Marine who played basketball during his tour of duty. A good athlete himself, Lake became distressed by the dismal performances of boxing shows in the 15th and E streets Coliseum. He decided to bring better fights to San Diego.

In addition to his duties as coordinator of the Employee Development program at the University of California, SD, in La Jolla, Lake arranged some better-than-average battles for a series of boxing shows at the Coliseum. One, Jack O'Halloran, won the State Heavyweight Championship at the Coliseum, a title he still holds.

Lake relinquished his connection with the Coliseum — temporarily. He'll promote fights there again after he settles down from his duties with the Ali-Norton affair. Meanwhile, a successor attempted to fill Lake's role in the musty, old Coliseum but he couldn't make a go of it. No fights are held there presently.

But Lake, who had long been possessed with the notion of bringing a big-time fight to San Diego, fell in with Lee Fruin. Lake uncovered all his enthusiasm and sales ability on him — and that's how Lee Fruin inadvertently became a box fight promoter.

Lake had earned the respect of the top, black people in boxing with his ready, straight answers. He called on these people to help him "nail down" the Ali faction. He had the Ol' MongOOSE, Archie Moore, at his shoulder and had more than a nodding acquaintance with Ali and Dundee. All these connections made the fight possible. And all of these activities go into the musty pages of history Saturday afternoon at the Arena. But it is safe to say that without Lew Lake in the picture, there would not have been an Ali-Norton fight Saturday.

Mickey Davies

Considered one of the best matchmakers in boxing, able, affable Mickey Davies has put together the supporting card for "The Fight".

A former fighter himself, Davies started as matchmaker and promoter in his native West Virginia after a tour of duty with the Marine Corps. He joined the staff at L.A.'s Olympic Auditorium and for awhile with Bill Miller at the S. D. Coliseum. He is now an independent matchmaker-promoter.

Davies is responsible for developing such fighters as Jerry and Mike Quarry, Mando Ramos, Raul Rojas, Frankie Crawford and others. He is noted for his stylish attire and collection of smoking pipes. He is also known in the world of boxing as a "straight shooter".

Norton and Ali have all but wrapped up their training routine. Ali admitted he didn't start training until he came to San Diego early last week. He really didn't have to. He has been averaging a fight every 60 days and needs only a little tune up.

His trainer, Angelo Dundee, admits Ali has slowed down. "Everyone is slower at 31 than at 25," he said this week.

Norton's training headquarters were at Gilman Hot Springs north of Hemet. Norton is a likeable, uncomplicated young man who likes visitors. So does his trainer Eddie Futch. Press people popped in and out of the camp like water on a hot skillet. That didn't bother the Norton people.

We sat in the unoccupied dining room of the modern motel across the highway from Norton's training camp. It was raining. Norton had just come back from a drive in his new, grey Lincoln.

"Let's pretend this is April 1, the day after the fight and that you've won," I said to Kenny. "Tell me what changes you see for you and Eddie."

Kenny studied his fingers and said finally, "No change. I'll keep on training and fighting until I meet the champion. If it takes a long time I'll keep doing what I'm doing, spending a lot of time with my son, doing a lot of reading and riding my Harley Davidson motorcycle for kicks."

"Sure, I'll take a couple of weeks off and unwind after this fight. It's been a long training session."

"No, I don't intend to become a gadabout socialite."

"What will I do with the money I'll make if I become champion? I'll invest it in real estate and in a few years I'll retire. I like kids. I'll probably get into something that has to do with needy children."

"No, I haven't any thoughts about separating from Eddie (Futch). He keeps me going in a straight line. As long as I fight I want to fight for Eddie."

And that's about as complicated as Norton is.

"He's a good student," Futch said. "He takes instructions well. We finally overcame his stubbornness. He had trouble keeping his hands up because he was stubborn. Now he listens and he understands. That's why I think he's got the makings of a champion."

"No, I wouldn't train him if he didn't take instructions. I put it to him and other fighters I've trained. When you won't do it my way, we split. There's no profit in it for any boxer who won't hear his trainer. Kenny is completely dedicated to his profession. He can be the world's heavyweight champion," Futch said.

Kenny got up and stretched and walked over to welterweight Hedgemon Lewis. Lewis is on the Saturday card. They talked a moment about the workouts coming up in a matter of minutes. Futch stood up as I did. We shook hands. "He's a fine young man," he said nodding toward Norton.

One of the sparring partners had walked in at the tail end of the conversation. He put his hand on my shoulder. "Kenny would walk through that stone wall if Eddie tells him to," he said.

Another round of handshakes and all of us headed for the dank, old gymnasium on the hillside across from the warm, comfortable motel dining room.

NIGHT GAME — Paul Schneider, Mt. Miguel High School first baseman, attempts to tag sliding Helix High baserunner in a pickoff try during last Friday night's contest at Helix. The Matadors, in a rare night game, committed four critical errors and lost the game, 7-0, despite the fact that Helix could come up with only one hit in the game. The Matadors will try again tomorrow afternoon when they host the El Capitan Vaqueros at 3 p.m. (Vince Broesch photo)

Errors, Breaks Give Helix Win Over Matadors

Mount Miguel baseball pitcher Steve Long was locked in a deadlock with Clay Fox last Friday night as the Matadors invaded the Helix High School field for a rare night game.

Long was his usual strong self as he gave up but one hit in four innings. Over the same stretch, Fox also gave up but a single hit.

After that first four innings, the score was 7-0, in favor of Helix, and that turned out to be the final score of a wild contest.

Difficult to imagine, but baseball has been said to be a game of breaks. Helix committed six errors, Mt. Miguel committed four, but the breaks went to Helix, and with them went the game, the first for both teams in the Grossmont League season.

Walks and the only Highlander hit of the night set up the first scores for Helix, in the third inning, when two errors accounted for four unearned runs. More boo-boos let in three more in the fourth inning. Five wild pitches also contributed to the fiasco.

Six errors by the Helix fielders happened to occur at the right times, and Mt. Miguel couldn't garner a single run.

Gulls, Fans to Fete Nicholson Friday Night

Following a rugged road trip that saw the Gulls play five games in six days in five different cities, the locals return to the Sports Arena for a contest against the Portland Buckaroos, Friday.

Game time is 8:00 and it will be Al Nicholson Night.

Nicholson will be honored during the first intermission by fans and friends who followed his career for six years in San Diego and also for seventeen seasons in the pro ranks.

As a Gull, Al is second on the all-time goal scoring list with 157 markers. He played a total of 463 out of a possible 464 games the Gulls played the first six seasons, including playoffs. In regular season play he totaled 198 assists, third highest in San Diego history.

The first player signed by Lake City Golden Eagles.

TOP MECHANIC — John Skinner, of Rite Time Auto Repair in Spring Valley, was one of only 1,369 men throughout the nation who passed four tests conducted by the National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence, a national non-profit group dedicated to identifying top mechanics. The tests were to determine which mechanics have the "highest standards of automotive services for the public good". Over 11,000 mechanics, mostly employees of auto dealerships, took part in the tests. Mechanics who pass all four tests — and they must pay a fee to take each one — receive a patch like the one Skinner wears on his left shoulder, identifying him as a master mechanic.

Freeman Seeks Sccond Term On Jamul Board

Don L. Freeman, 42, of Headquarters and Service Route 1, Box 93a, Lyons Valley rd., Jamul, who serves as president of the Jamul-Las Flores Union School District Board of Trustees, is running for re-election to that board.

Freeman, who will face the voters for the second time, has been a teacher at Sweetwater High School for 14 years and is a member of the

In the four years that Freeman has been on the board, he said, the board has worked harmoniously and has been more careful in spending money. The tax rate for the district has increased an average of only 1.5 percent per year during his stay on the board.

Additionally, he noted, test scores for the students have gone up markedly, which he attributes to a constant upgrading in the teaching and administrative staff.

The district is currently working to form citizen advisory groups, Freeman said, indicating favor in getting community involvement in the school in a constructive way.

Problems facing the district in the next few years, according to the candidate, is a rapid increase in enrollment, causing a need for expanding facilities.

He noted that attendance at the district's sole school has jumped from 320 students four years ago to over 550 youngsters presently, an increase of 72 percent. He said an expansion program is now underway to keep up with enrollment increases.

The candidate is active in Sigma Delta Chi, the professional journalism society, and Phi Delta Kappa, an educators' fraternity. He holds a masters degree in education and an administrative credential.

Nunn Eyes Spot On High School Board

Melvin E. Nunn, 40, of 9345 Hillside dr., Spring Valley, who indicated that a lack of public confidence is a major problem of the Grossmont Union High School District, is a candidate for that district's board of education.

Nunn, father of three, has lived in this area for 19 years and is employed at the Naval Electronics Laboratory Center. He is a member of the board of trustees of the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District.

He said that the first change he would like to make as a trustee would be to better coordinate services offered by the high school district for elementary districts which graduate students into local high schools.

It is now even more important, he said, because recent legislation has given school districts the responsibility of textbook selection, a task formerly handled at the state level.

He said that the current board is aware that bonding is a better way to finance the institution, but was also aware that a bond election would have failed. The failure, Nunn said, would have been due to a lack of public confidence.

As a trustee, Nunn said, he would lay out all the district's plans and let the public see what the district is doing.

Other changes he would like to see include better long range planning and modern management for the district.

He said that modernizing the district's operation could entail getting suggestions not only from the administration, but also from a second group, staff members, and citizens possibly a group of teachers and principals.

He also suggested joint meetings between citizen advisory councils and curriculum department personnel on all school levels.

Citizen involvement, he said, could do much in gaining better confidence in the school district. In the past, the district has been afraid of citizen involvement and has consequently been a failure at attaining public confidence, the candidate claimed.

Nunn, who received a BS degree from San Diego State and did graduate work at UCSD, is a member of the board of directors of the Science Advancement Club of San Diego, has been active in PTA, Little League, church groups, and Y Indian Guides. He holds a teaching credential.

He sees Valhalla, the district's controversial ninth high school, as urgently needed, although he said that it should not have to be constructed through tax money, but rather through a bond issue.

Shifflet In Race For College Board Seat

William C. Shifflet, 43, of 9395 Lavell st., La Mesa, who said it would be his aim to initiate courses that would help lead people back into the community, is a candidate for the Grossmont College Board of Governors.

Shifflet, father of four, has been a practicing attorney for 18 years and has lived in this area for 10 years. He served as assistant city attorney for El Cajon, attended council and planning commission meetings as a representative of the Rainbow Municipal Water District for five years, and has represented many school districts in legal matters.

He is a member of PTA groups at Spring Valley Junior High and Grossmont High School.

The candidate, who attended the University of California, Hastings School of Law in San Francisco and completed undergraduate work at the University of Southern California, said that he thinks the district is well run.

One thing he would do, however, if he were elected to the board, would be to look into increasing teacher salaries and the possibilities of lowering the college's budget. He said that other districts in the state with similar enrollment have smaller budgets.

He favors the stand of the present board regarding a proposed auditorium to be constructed in El Cajon. The want to know more about the proposal, including arrangements for financing, how much use the college would get from the facility, and who would supply maintenance for the auditorium, once built, he said.

The attorney, who has law offices in San Diego, said that the district should be careful in preparing plans for a proposed second campus in Spring Valley.

If the population continues to increase and a tax base can support the project, he said, the project would be merited. He warned that the district, for its enrollment, is now relatively "tax poor", meaning that the ratio of assessed valuation in the district to the college enrollment is low.

Deacon Debuts in New Charger Film

"Deacon's Travelin' Revival Show," new San Diego Charger highlight film, had its premiere Sunday.

Before Charger players and San Diego County media, the film was shown at Golden Hill United Presbyterian Church, 22nd and Market streets.

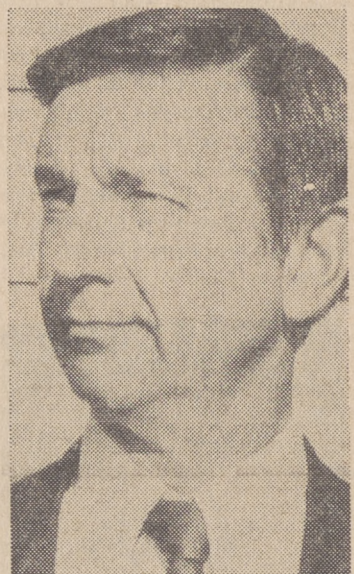

Sunday's performance was preceded by music from the Golden Hill Chancel Choir, directed by Dr. Leon Kelley. The film contains special theme music sung by the Philadelphia Bible Tabernacle Choir.

"Deacon's Travelin' Revival Show," depicts the spirit of the 1972 Chargers through a difficult season of 4-9-1. That spirit is personified by Deacon Jones, Tim Rosovich, Mike Garrett and other colorful Charger players.

Produced by NFL Films and written and directed by former Charger receiver Phil Tuckett, the 16-mm color sound film runs 26 minutes. It is sponsored by the Pepsi-Cola Bottling Co. of San Diego, Adohr Farms Dairy and 7-Eleven Food Stores.

The film is available without charge to all groups of 50 or more persons in San Diego County.

Requests should be made at least two weeks in advance and directed to Public Relations Dept., San Diego Chargers, P.O. Box 20666, San Diego 92120.

"INDIANS"—Ralph H. Jones, left portrays newsman-author Ned Buntline, Alan Fudge portrays the leading role of Buffalo Bill Cody and Forrest Buckman portrays Wild Bill Hickock in the Old Globe Theatre production of "Indians," opening March 27 for a limited run through April 29 with performances nightly except Monday.

Buffalo Bill Story Offered In Old Globe Stage Play

Buffalo Bill is the central focus in "Indians," the drama which opened Tuesday on stage at the Old Globe Theatre in Balboa Park.

The conflict between the Indian nation and the American government, climaxing with the battle of Wounded Knee on Christmas Day, 1890, was written by Arthur Kopit.

Guest director Asaad Keldada is staging "Indians" with performances scheduled nightly except Monday through April 29. A single matinee performance will be presented April 1.

Dramatizing the life of Buffalo Bill as an example of the hero-myth of America, playwright Kopit creates scenes to highlight the tragedy of the Indian-government relationship. Buffalo Bill is promoted into a national hero by newsman-writer Ned Buntline after destroying buffalo herds to provide food for railroad workers. The government selects him as a guide to the Grand Duke Alexis of Russia during a visit to the American West.

Buffalo Bill becomes an actor in a play about his exploits, and joined by Wild Bill Hickock, they perform for the U. S. President. To demonstrate frontier life, Buffalo Bill assembles his Wild West Show, touring the nation to great acclaim. After the surrender of Sitting Bull, he is persuaded to join the Wild West Show to be placed on exhibition and ridiculed.

The Indian nation, seeking respect and recognition from the American government, becomes frustrated by broken treaties and twisted promises. Buffalo Bill, in his efforts to mediate the conflict, compromises his love and respect for the Indians, and he himself is destroyed by this distortion of values. Manipulated by unscrupulous profiteers, he becomes the victim of his own dream. This dream, which begins honorably, leads to nightmarish corruption.

Alan Fudge will play the leading role of Buffalo Bill in "Indians." A guest artist for this production, Fudge has been featured in nine previous productions of the Old Globe Theatre's National Shakespeare Festival. His current feature film appearance is in the new Peter Fonda film "Two People."

Other principal roles will be played by Tavis Ross as Sitting Bull, Forrest Buckman as Wild Bill Hickock, Ralph H. Jones as Ned Buntline and John Parra as John Grass. A total of 38 actors appear in the Old Globe Theatre production of "Indians."

Guest Director Asaad Keldada last fall directed "The Effect of Gamma Rays on Man-in-the-Moon Marigolds" at the Carter Centre Stage and last spring directed "Rosencrantz and Guildenstern are Dead" for the Old Globe Theatre.

Students through college may purchase tickets for $2 available for all performances except Saturday evening.

Chamber Music Lecture On Tap

Grossmont College's Department of Music will present Geoffrey Rutkowski in a lecture-demonstration titled "Chamber Music for Strings" at 1 p.m. tomorrow in Room 225 of the Fine Arts Building, to continue the music series "The Classic Era."

Rutkowski, a member of the artist faculty at the University of California, Santa Barbara, began his musical studies at the age of 8. He made his debut at the age of 13.

After studying at the University of Southern California and Juilliard School of Music, he joined the foremost cellists of his generation while studying with Pablo Casals in 1967. In continuing his career, he proceeds to perform concerts that usually bring him dazzling reviews.

The public is invited. There is no charge for admission.

'Future is Present' Program Wednesday

The series, "Tripping Through the Time Tube," will be continued when Mrs. Shannon Estavillo, Grossmont College geology instructor, discusses the present fragile structure of our planet and our options for the future in a program titled "The Future is Present" at 7:30 p.m., April 4 in the Monte Vista High School auditorium, Spring Valley.

Presented by Grossmont College's Office of Community Services, the series of programs probes the mysteries of the earth from its origin to the present as a preview of the future.

During her presentation, Mrs. Estavillo will screen three thought-provoking films. The first, "San Francisco: The City That Wants To Die," depicts the work of California seismologists as they conduct revolutionary experiments in an effort to see if man can start and stop earthquakes at will.

The second film, "Genius Man" is a satirical portrayal of man as he ignores beneficial inventions in favor of the invention of weapons, the means of destruction.

"Man and His World," is a provocative film that creates a metaphorical portrait of the earth's inhabitants.

80th District Race Attracts P.B. Man

Mel Simi, 51, who lives in Pacific Beach and who operates the American Business College and the S. D. College for Medical and Dental Assistants on El Cajon Blvd., has announced his candidacy for the Assembly in the 80th District. The post was previously held by John Stull who won the recent State Senatorial post that was relinquished by Sen. Clair Burgener, who, in turn, was elected to the U. S. Congress.

Simi said he would use his business experience to the problems he will face in the Assembly and that he would battle to achieve what his constituency desires if the solutions benefit all.

He was critical of a statement he claimed William Craven, another candidate for the post, made regarding Craven's support by the Republican Assembly Caucus. Craven is a County Supervisor and also a candidate for the 80th Assembly District post. Both Craven and Simi are Republicans.

S.D. Council Seat Sought By Woman

Evonne Seron Schulze, of 6457 Acorn st., San Diego, has announced her candidacy for the nearby San Diego City 7th District Council post.

She is past vice-president of the Henry Clay PTA board; a member of the Tenure Study Committee, 9th District PTA, a member of the E.S.D. Unit of the League of Women Voters.

Mrs. Schulze, 39, expressed concern with the quality of life in San Diego, expressly the economic as well as the sociological impact involved in the growth vs. no-growth issues. She said involvement with all minorities is important and so is transportation to and from work, to shopping and recreation areas.

She also proposes opening lines of communication between citizens and her office, when elected. She proposes to bring new, innovative concerned representation to her district.

The seat she seeks is presently occupied by Councilman Allen Hitch.

High School Board Hopeful

Lack Of Communication Cited By Beverly Hurst

Beverly Hurst, 35, of 11938 Fuerte dr., El Cajon, who sees the major problem with the Grossmont Union High School District as one of a lack in communication, is a candidate for the district's Board of Governors.

Mrs. Hurst, married and the mother of four children, graduated from Hoover High School in San Diego and attended San Diego State and the University of California at Berkeley.

She is president of the Fuerte School PTA, a member of the citizen's advisory council at Monte Vista High, and a Sunday school and vacation Bible school teacher at Good Shepherd Lutheran Church.

She is also active in girl scouts, little league, the Red Cross Backyard Swim Program, and the Westwind Riders Club. She was the recipient of an honorary life membership from the California Congress of Parents and Teachers.

The candidate said that her background, which includes employment as a secretary and office clerk as well as her present duties as a homemaker, is one that would be useful on the board.

The greatest need for change in the district, according to Mrs. Hurst, involves getting better communication between the board and the citizens of the district.

She proposes that board members take the initiative in establishing lines of communication by visiting the schools, attending PTA meetings, and, in general, making themselves available to the community.

She advocates staying with-

L.G. Trustees OK Contracts

The Lemon Grove School District Board of Trustees met Tuesday night and approved a contract with the County Department of Education for computer terminal service, approved a summer school program for 1973, and approved a contract for temporary use of school facilities with the Lemon Grove Christian Church.

The computer service item on the agenda was carried over from the board meeting of March 13 and the contract was approved after Superintendent Bob Sutton indicated that there would be no costs to the district.

Harold Ball was named director of the 1973 summer school program, which will be essentially the same as last year.

The Lemon Grove Christian Church sought a contract for temporary use of school facilities at San Miguel School for the purpose of conducting Sunday School activities.

The contract, which was approved, will be for a maximum of six months and calls for a $10 per week fee from the church.

PTA Highlights

S.V. Elementary
The Spring Valley Elementary School PTA held its election of 1973-1974 officers at the March unit meeting. Mrs. Marjorie Hathaway was elected to the office of president; Mrs. Marjorie Humphries and Jerry Mulherin, are vice presidents; Mrs. Eileen Menzies, secretary; Mrs. Marie Treahy, treasurer; and Mrs. Barbara Bell, auditor.

The program for the evening was "Art Odyssey," displaying the talents of the children of Spring Valley Elementary in wood crafts, collage, paper crafts, sand candles, macrame, paper mache, puppets, oil crayon, water color and many other art media, with many of the students performing and demonstrating their arts.

Palm Junior High
Election of officers for the 1973-74 year highlighted the March meeting of the Palm Junior High School Parent-Teacher Association.

New officers selected for the term are Mrs. Joe Lucher, president; Mrs. James Ryan, secretary; Mrs. Tom Anderson, treasurer; Mrs. Donald Ford, auditor; and Mrs. Ken Tibbetts, historian. Vice presidents will be Mrs. Wayne Bell, Mrs. Robert Edwards, Mrs. Merrin Stalnaker, and Mrs. Stan Middleton.

Westland Names S.D. Bank Head

J. J. Thomason, Executive Vice President, has been named to head Westlands Bank of San Diego. Thomason has had an extensive background in bank operations and administration during his 15 years banking experience in Southern California. He graduated cum laude from the Banking School at Washington U.

Thomason is a member of the J. F. Kew Masonic Lodge. He is past president of Inglewood YMCA, Past Chairman of the Board of the Inglewood Salvation Army, and member of the Advisory Board of the Inglewood Unified School District. He is associated with Robert Morris Associates, California Banker's Association, Independent Bankers' Association and American Institute of Banking.

Thomason and his family are residents of Fletcher Hills. Westlands Bank of San Diego will soon be located at 445 W. Ash st., corner of Columbia.

Blood Study Results Offered In Report

Results of a genetic "Blood Study" of psoriasis will be given in a report by Dr. Joseph College, Escondido dermatologist, in a meeting scheduled for 7:30 p.m. April 4 at the Al Bahr Temple, Clairemont Mesa Blvd. and Highway 395. The meeting is public and open without charge.

For further information phone Mrs. Leo Rosecrans at 276-1853.

Valhalla Bid Awarded

The F. E. Young Construction Company, Inc., has been awarded a contract for $6.2 million to construct Valhalla High School, the Grossmont Union High School District's controversial ninth school.

The bid was 5.3 per cent above estimated and budgeted costs for the project, which is expected to take Monte Vista and Mt. Miguel High Schools off double sessions caused by overcrowding.

The bid was the lowest of four submitted to the district, and the contract was awarded at the board of trustees meeting Monday night.

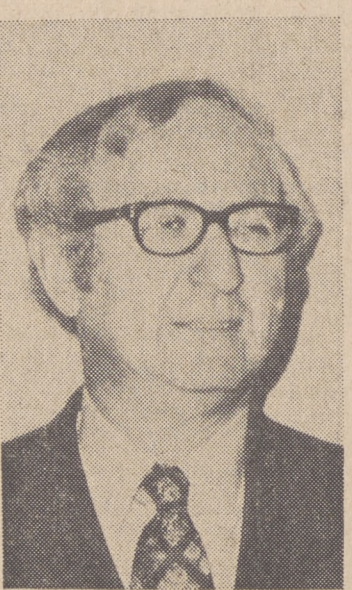

The high school district has been criticized for financing the project through a tax levy.

New fruit-flavored yogurts on the market include Cold Duck, peach melba, lemon custard, and honey and wheat germ.

Wiener Wants Seat On Grossmont College Board

Dr. Sydney P. Wiener, a retired dentist and an investor, who lives in El Cajon, would bring an added dimension of cultural development to Grossmont Community College if he is elected to the governing board.

Dr. Wiener came to El Cajon from Flushing, New York in 1968 and has been active in Grossmont College activities. He serves on the board of directors of the Grossmont Community Concert Assn. because he likes music and art. He said that when it was decided that the Grossmont gymnasium was not suitable as an auditorium, he actively worked at finding ways of providing one.

An override election had provided funds for a campus facility but construction costs rose too fast and the funds were deposited in the county treasury. Meanwhile, a stage was built on campus — Stage Center — but an auditorium was still lacking.

Dr. Wiener then became the proponent of joining forces with the City of El Cajon to develop a civic center concept which would include an auditorium. But it hit a hangup when the College District announced that it would have to own the land on which the facility was to be built.

El Cajon's Mayor J. Snapp approved a program by which the land would be dedicated and the project is "now in the works."

As an investor, Dr. Wiener says his knowledge of finance is broad enough to make his college board service useful. "The experience would aid me in searching out every state and federal avenue for financial aid to education," he said.

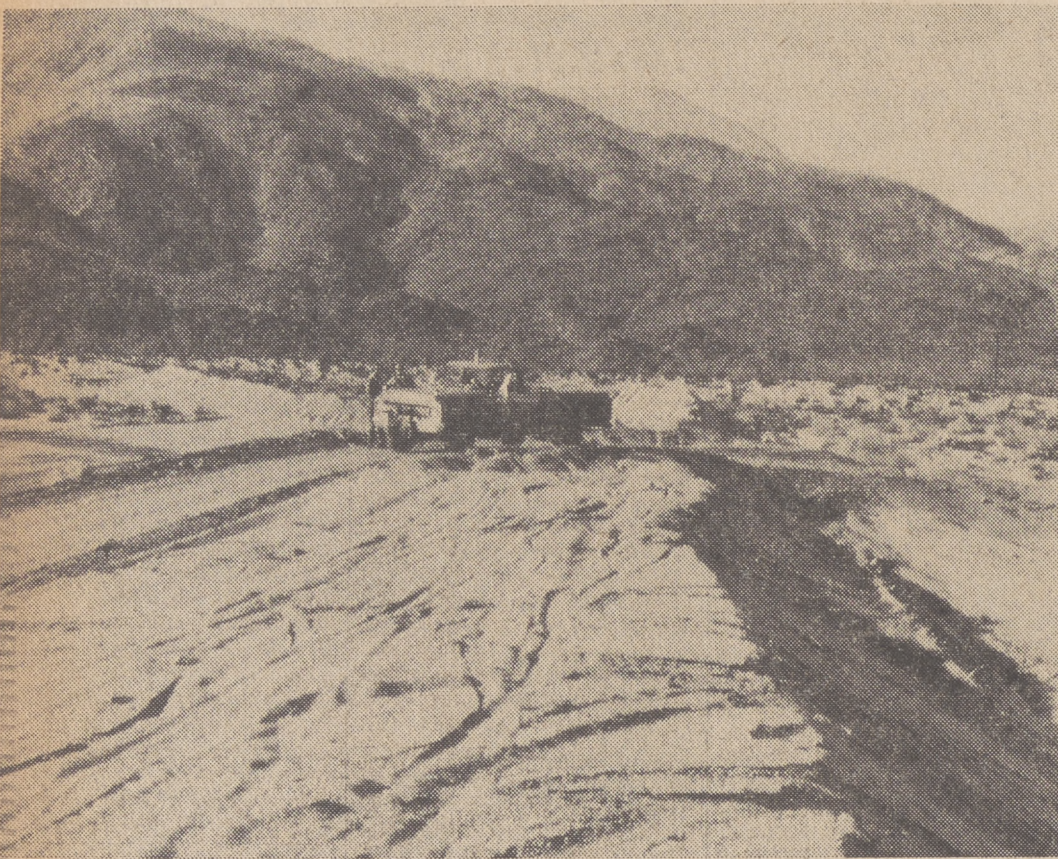

"We must develop a type of school that will benefit the student when he enters work community," he said. He sees "pockets of education" programs as filling these needs. He envisions bringing business firms into teaching programs.

A "pocket" class would be on-the-job training at the facility of the firm associated with the "pocket" teacher. A sort of an extension school concept.

"Computers, for example," Dr. Wiener explained. "Not only would the student have practical knowledge but he would be in a pool — a ready source of trained employees for that industry."

He thinks that the same philosophy would work on back country ranches. "These things excite me," he said.

Dr. Wiener is active in the East County chapter of the Fine Arts Gallery of San Diego. He is a Special Deputy Sheriff and on the executive board of the Sheriff's Air Squadron. He serves on the El Cajon Chamber of Commerce Aviation and Government Affairs committee.

DAM THREATENED — Almost before it was finished, this dam, built by the County Engineer's road crews for the San Diego County Flood Control Group, is threatened by motorcyclists using it as a plaything. Designed to reduce the danger of sheet flooding to homes in Borrego Springs, it is but

Research and Design Mark Role Of County Flood Control Chief

Flood control... the words usually conjure up visions of concrete-lined channels, culverts, bridges, and levees.

In the County of San Diego, it means research, planning, design, and a great deal of cooperation with many other governmental agencies, according to Bob Hoffmaster, deputy director of the Department of Sanitation and Flood Control.

His job as chief of the Flood Control Group, under Director Case J. Houson, is to do the necessary planning to protect the unincorporated areas of the county from inundation.

It's a big job, because Hoffmaster exercises some degree of responsibility over a county that is equal in size to Rhode Island, Delaware, and Washington, D.C., with the Virgin Islands thrown in.

With most of the flood potential originating in the mountains of the county, Hoffmaster said his staff works closely with the city governments in the flood storm paths. He cited the current U. S. Army Corps of Engineers and City of San Diego study of the Mission Valley flood plain. In seeking alternatives to a concrete river channel through the valley, the county responsibilities for the upper San Diego River figure heavily.

Hoffmaster said, "Residents new to our county have trouble realizing that floods can occur in this semi-arid climate, but in 1825, 1862, 1916, and 1927, heavy damaging floods did hit this area.

"Sudden downpour after several days of saturating rains mean real trouble. Usually dry arroyos become swollen creeks moving down the slopes with devastating and lethal velocities. Our rivers, normally trickles at the most, become deep channels of muddy water and debris."

The Board of Supervisors recently imposed a moratorium on development in the 100-year flood plains of nine major county streams until 1975. During this period, Hoffmaster's staff will be delineating the exact boundaries that can be expected from a 100-year storm. At the same time, maps are being drafted of the 10-year floodways of these streams to determine the precise location of the areas.

Hoffmaster said that there is much misunderstanding work closely with the city governments in the flood storm paths. He cited the current U. S. Army Corps of Engineers and City of San Diego study of the Mission Valley flood plain. In seeking alternatives to a concrete river channel through the valley, the county responsibilities for the upper San Diego River figure heavily.

"It could even happen two years in a row," he said. "They would become statistically the two worst storms in a two hundred year period, then."

Most of San Diego County, except for the San Luis Rey and Santa Margarita River basins, is within a special district known as the San Diego County Flood Control District. The North County areas are in a special tri-county district, but still under the purview of the Flood Control Group.

The Flood Control District is subdivided into five zones. Zone one approximates the drainage basins of the San Dieguito Rivers, San Marcos Creek, Escondido Creek, and Los Penasquitos Creek.

Zone two is the general area of the San Diego River watershed. The Sweetwater River is designated zone three and zone four is the Otay River, Tijuana River, and Telegraph Canyon areas. The portions of the County which drain eastward are in zone five.

Each zone has citizen participation through its own Zone Advisory Commissioners, appointed by the Board of Supervisors. Because of the differing problems and projects of each property, the tax rate varies between zones.

Current projects other than the mapping of the flood plains include the Sweetwater River Flood Channel, which involves six other Federal, State, and local agencies in the construction of a 3.1 mile leveed channel from San Diego Bay to the crossing of I-805 freeway near Bonita.

Former Speaker of the House, John W. McCormack, served eight presidents while he was in Congress.

California Highway Patrol Commissioner Walter Pudinsky assumed his post less than nine months ago.

But his philosophical impact is already revolutionizing the business of providing safety for motorists on California's 92,000 miles of highways and 3,500 miles of freeways which CHP guards.

There are hundreds of motorists alive today because of Pudinsky's "high visibility" and aggressive "drunk driver" programs. When he was appointed to CHP's top spot in July, there were already 225 more vehicle fatalities than the six month period the year before. By the end of the year the death total records had declined to plus seven.

For the first 10 weeks of 1973 there was a decrease of 82.

Commissioner Pudinsky discussed his "high visibility" program and others with newsmen Thursday at Howard Johnson's Restaurant in Mission Valley. It was the first such conference called by a CHP Commissioner in the memory of attending newsmen. And what he said was exciting.

The policy is to give high visibility to officers in areas such as Lemon Grove where the traffic incidents are heavy. "We put officers where they can be readily seen rather than on a ramp or around a corner," Pudinsky said. "Our job is preventive enforcement; not revenue raising. We'd rather prevent an accident than to give a citation," he said.

As a result, citations will be down approximately 14% from the 2 million citations that are written each year. "Our Department was able to do this and still vigorously enforce the law," he noted. A plan to put distinctive lights atop CHP patrol cars will further reduce violations, he believes.

Drunk Drivers
Aggressive enforcement of drunk-driving laws has been effective, too, he said. Drinking drivers are having second thoughts about the problems they create. Drunk driving incidents have dropped 25% and that total will drop more. Drunk driving arrests have increased — particularly during the holidays. He attributed the improvement in part to the press for helping to make drunk-driving "socially unacceptable."

High visibility in Lemon Grove and East Spring Valley comes in the form of the CHP's Accident Reduction Team (A.R.T.), a team of four. There is usually one patrol car on Lemon Grove streets during every daylight hour. Lemon Grove once had the highest accident rate (Broadway) in the County — and was increasing. Now, it has leveled off and when center islands are installed on Broadway, it will begin to drop. Part of the program involves young bicyclists. ART officers cite them for unsafe riding practices.

The lawbreaker must appear before a court in El Cajon's courthouse; face a trained high school-age judge, and if guilty, be sentenced to a safety class conducted by a CHP officer at Mt. Miguel High School. Needless to say, the bicycle accident rate has been reduced.

Deployment Changed
Pudinsky said 33% of highway fatalities have been on roads in the unincorporated areas so deployment of manpower in those areas was being increased.

He reminded that off-highway vehicles would have to be registered next year and that CHP would be the enforcing agency. He also noted that a new auto-theft program would soon co-ordinate the Department with other law enforcement agencies. "It would, in effect, extend a local agency to any other part of the state through the CHP."

A suggestion, made by this reporter, that senior citizens be remanded to an education class rather than cited to court for some moving violations won Pudinsky's wholehearted approval. No such program exists now. Most of today's senior citizens have autos. When cited for an infraction it is not only traumatic enough to produce a fear of future driving, but insurance firms take undo advantage of the situation and boost his insurance rate unconscionably. Such a program would add several years of safe driving to the life of the seniors, the reporter observed.

During the news conference, Captain L. DeGroff, San Diego area commander of the California Highway Patrol, presented a framed certificate of appreciation to Max Goodwin, editor of this newspaper, for "Public Information and Education."

He had written a continuing series of articles concerning CHP's ART program in his circulation area. ART's operation had resulted in a greatly reduced accident rate here.

Bicycle Safety Winners Named

More winners in the California Highway Patrol's Accident Reduction Team (A.R.T.) Bicycle Safety contest were named this week.

The contest is held at each of the schools in Lemon Grove and East Spring Valley with the winners competing in a rodeo next month for the top prize of a ten-speed bicycle. The prize is being supplied by the Lemon Grove Kiwanis club.

Winner at St. John of the Cross Catholic Church School was Jeff Tharp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Tharp, of 1435 Janice st., Spring Valley. Runners-up were Steve De Philippis, Tom Walsh, Michael Gallegas and Sal Corrao.

At Mt. Vernon school the winner was Paul Neuhaus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Neuhaus, of 2241 Lyndine, Lemon Grove. Runners-up were Jay Neuhaus, Bill Robbins, Randy Gomer and Penny Morgan.

Byron Peterson Seeks John Stull's Assembly Seat

Byron Peterson, 49, a long-time Republican leader, has joined the battle for the 80th District Assembly seat vacated by John Stull when he was elected State Senator.

Peterson, a resident of Escondido and president of the Balboa Mortgage Co., is a former president of United Republicans of California. He has been a member of both the County and state Central Republican Committees. He said he intends to relinquish his post as president and chairman of the board of Balboa Mortgage Co. if elected to avert the possibility of a conflict of interest. Several bills affecting the mortgage business are being considered by the Assembly.

Peterson said he is a conservative — meaning to conserve everything and use it for the advantage of all.

The north parts of Lemon Grove, Spring Valley and Casa de Oro are in the 80th District.
